

2010 Conducting Workshop using the Saito method - Ripatransone, Italy

July 25 to August 1, 2010

Information from Dr. Brian Kilian bkilian@bellsouth.net or from <http://conductorschool.com>

Participants will learn the fundamentals of the Saito conducting method including the studies selected by Hideo Saito and Morihiro Okabe. The studies from the Saito Conducting Method and supplementary material will expose participants to a broad range of conducting challenges for which detailed and alternative solutions will be explored. Learning is accelerated through carefully planned instruction and focused feedback from a team of experienced instructors.

Fee - US$2000.00 -or- early payment fee of US$1900.00
which includes:

- Accommodation at a convent in Ripatransone, Italy, a beautiful town in the Marche region known as the "Belvedere of the Piceno".
- Three meals daily – includes wine, pasta, meat vegetables and salad.
- Instruction in Saito Conducting Methodology (group and individual lessons with performances by duo pianists) from Wayne Toews, and George Charpentier. Workshop coordinator – Brian Kilian.
- Includes 45-50 hours of group and individual instruction.
- Supplementary sessions on communication skills and rehearsal techniques.
- Personal recording of each participant provided on DVD – a valuable learning and reference tool to continue your studies.
- Professional exchange with participants and instructors.
- College undergraduate/graduate credit may be available at an extra cost.
- Information about flight/transportation alternatives is available on request.
- Program enrollment is limited.
- A non-refundable deposit of US$250.00 must accompany registration.
- See comments from former participants at <http://conductorschool.com/scrapbook.html>